School's delight at outstanding report

by RUPERT TAYLOR
rupert.taylor@sussexnewspapers.co.uk

THE Headteacher at Priory School, Lewes, has spoken of his pride at achieving an 'Outstanding' Ofsted report following a rigorous inspection earlier this month.

Martyn Ofield said: "The report is a great tribute to the commitment, effort and expertise of the staff and I should like to thank them for raising the standards at Priory from 'Good' in the school's 2007 Ofsted inspection to 'Outstanding' in 2010.

"I should also like to thank and congratulate the students who are a credit to the school and their parents. The positive attitudes of students and their many achievements were key factors in this outstanding report."

He said the school could not have reached these high standards without the support of the majority of its parents.

Mr Ofield added: "The report also recognises the significant contribution of the governors of Priory School. The governors voluntarily and generously give their time and energy to the school and I have greatly appreciated their support."

The Ofsted inspection said Priory provides an outstanding education for its students.

Attainment is high and achievement is outstanding for all groups, including those students who have special educational needs and/or disabilities.

The report stated that the "excellent" curriculum is a particular strength of the school and students are extremely well equipped with the knowledge and skills necessary for the next step in their education.

Behaviour is good overall and students make an excellent contribution to the community.

Makeover for the humble sandwich

BRITISH Sandwich Week produced a cut above the rest in Lewes.

Forget cheese and pickle. At the new One9Seven restaurant they produced an exotic fusion of chips, skate, pigeon, sole and asparagus.

Now customers are being invited to invent their own sandwich using local ingredients. The best will go on the menu - and its creator will be able to enjoy it for free whenever they like.

More conventional sandwiches on offer at the High Street venue include Horam sausage, marinated prawn and "Sussex Charmer" - red onion marmalade and home cooked crisps. For more information visit www.one-9-seven.co.uk or call 01273 479713.

Proprietors Stuart and Sue Ferguson say they are dedicated to using the best produce Sussex has to offer. Wherever possible, products are sourced within 15 miles of the restaurant. Chef Stuart said: "I look at Sussex as being my back garden, with the English Channel simply a pond for my fish."

An award-winning chef and journalist, his background includes time spent in some of the world's best kitchens, being part of the team that set up The World's 50 Best Restaurant awards and being Group Executive Chef for London's acclaimed Vivat Bacchus restaurants.

Fayre's three days of fun for all the family

LAUGHTON'S famous Spring Cuckoo Fayre takes place this Bank Holiday weekend.

The spectacular family shows open at 10am from Saturday to Monday, May 29-31 and combine nostalgia and tradition with fun and thrills for all age groups.

There's a chance to steer a steam traction engine, hunt for a bargain in the huge open-air market or the craft marquee, meet Peppa Pig and George on Saturday, join in fun and games with Charlie the Clown and thrill to supercharged dragster tractors. Entry costs £8 for adults, £7 for OAPs, £3 for children under 14, £19 for a family and children under five go free.

Your chance to make your child a winner

MUMS and dads who would like to enter their kids into the Child of the Year competition are reminded to pop down to Sainsbury's in Newhaven next Saturday, June 5.

The competition offers the chance for the bonniest babies and cutest toddlers to light up the pages of the Express, with the winner of each category getting a framed 14x11inch photo and trophy.

To enter, all parents need is the entry form, which can be found on page 28.

After the photos have been taken parents select the best one for entry, which will be featured in the paper for readers to vote for.

There will be the chance to purchase any photographs taken on the day and the session will be from 10am until 4pm.

The Child of the Year categories are 0-9 months, 10-18 months, 19-36 months and 3-5 years.

Up to 500 entrants are expected in this year's competition and they will all be featured in the paper in a few weeks' time.
